“ An open letter to the Cuccia family and all of Pat's friends Pat was truly a kind and gentle person. I had the pleasure of knowing her for about fourteen years. She had a truly great sense of humor (although, a little on the risqué side). We had many wonderful times, her family and I, many vacations and a lot of overnights to the Peppermill in Reno, which Pat considered her second home. Hence her nickname "Peppermill Pat." She was actually quite lucky playing her penny machines. Pat had many simple pleasures like cheeseburgers, Panda Express, going out for breakfast, a well made margarita, but without a doubt her greatest pleasure was being with, and spending time with, her beloved family. Before Pat was unable to drive you could see her buzzing around Graeagle in her car, (which she could barely see over the steering wheel). We referred to her car as "The Pat Mobile." She loved to drive so much that even after she was banned from the wheel we had to hide the keys from her, as she would think nothing of a joy ride to the post office or the Graeagle Store. I will truly miss her. It was my honor to have known her. Pat is with the angels now. Rest in Peace. All my love, Terry Moore
